

3. The teams are parts of larger school communities and might participate in a league with similar teams.

Copyright © Glencoe/McGraw-Hill, a division of The McGraw-Hill Companies, Inc.

1. Teams are small communities organized to accomplish the goals of a sport.

2. Passing the ball is a direct interaction. Another interaction could be communication between the players and coach about the players' movements.

1. How are the people in the photo part of a system?
2. Are the people interacting with one another? What other interactions might be taking place?
3. Are there elements of a system not visible in the photos? What are some of those elements?